III. Background Information

The digital collection was donated on a CD to the Livingston County Historian's Office in 2008. Unfortunately, the donor and provenance information was lost, and the collection remained minimally described on the filed CD until further collection processing in early 2022. The digital collection is now stored solely on the Livingston County network drive, where regular, automatic backups help preserve the items. The original CD was disposed of at this time.

The donor identified the subjects in photographs and included some extra information for items in a separate digital text file, which was burned on the CD and correlated to original file names/numbers. These descriptions were retained and entered into the inventory during the collection processing in 2022. The JPG and PDF files were renumbered to indicate the collection number and item number. Correspondence and similar items spanning more than one JPG file were merged into a single PDF file. Original JPG and text files were not retained.
